Ask bathroom remodeling pros. View Pros Return to Top Hiring a tub to shower conversion contractor Before hiring shower installers near you for your bathroom remodel, be sure to: Get at least three estimates to compare. Get references and check out a portfolio of their previous work. Browse their reviews on HomeGuide, Google, and the Better Business Bureau (BBB). For tile showers, look for licensed CTEF Certified Tile Installers (CTI) who are members of the National Tile Contractors Association. Select companies that are insured, bonded, and have been in business for more than five years. Avoid selecting significantly lower quotes as quality may suffer. Get a detailed estimate, contract, and warranty in writing before the work begins. Never pay in full before the project starts. Follow a payment plan instead for work completed. Questions to ask shower installers How many tub-to-shower conversions have you done before? Do you recommend tile, shower wall panels, or a premade shower stall for my bathroom, and why? Will you install a shower stall kit I purchased from a home improvement store? Can you provide references and a portfolio showing your work? Are you licensed, bonded, and insured? What steps will you take to waterproof the shower? Does the estimate include the fixtures and doors? Does the estimate include demo, removing the old tub, and hauling away the debris? What is included in the final price? What other costs should I expect? Does the price include replacing the 1 ½” tub drain with a 2" shower drain? How long will the installation take? How many people will be working on the project? How soon will I be able to use the shower after the installation? Is a warranty included? If yes, what does it cover?
